

Welcome to the autumn edition of the Suffolk Buggs club newsletter.

Remember this is your newsletter, so if there is anything you would like to share, advertise, suggest etc. Just let us know via the e-mail link on the club website www.suffolkbuggs.co.uk.

Alternatively you can jot it down and pass it on to a committee member;
Andrew & Naomi, Jay & Milly, Anika, Steve & Lorrie, Paul & Laura & Gavin.

I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their continuing support. Sometimes Andrew & I can't quite believe how the clubs progressed so much from the early days of picnic meets a few times a year, to monthly meets and everything inbetween. And now a show!

Anyway there's so much to pack into this newsletter, so I'd better get on with it.

AUGUST CRUISE MEET

As we approach the end of the year (already)! It is time to invite any club members who would like to get a bit more involved in the running of the Suffolk Buggs, to put their names forward for the committee of 2009. (It's not that scary)!!

As a committee we meet every quarter and discuss & plan dates, times, events, fundraising etc. Job roles are shared out. If you are interested, please let Andrew or Naomi know. Thankyou

UP & COMING IMPORTANT CHANGE

New meet venue as of JANUARY 2009 – Stonham barns, overflow car park. Still 2nd Sunday of every month.

ALIVE & V-DUBBIN SHOW 2009

This is a Plea for giant outdoor games ie; Jenga, Connect 4, Draughts etc. Also sacks & hoops etc for team games. Could you please pass on empty washing tablet boxes for craft activities we are planning. Thankyou

WAXHAM SANDS CLUB CAMP JULY 2008

Our annual club camp at Waxham sands in Norfolk was a great weekend again!

The weather was awesome, lovely and hot which always helps. There were 12 campervans full of Buggs that turned up to enjoy the fun.

The sandart competition was judged by Michelle – Ellie Steward won with her creation of a seal.

The kids enjoyed early evening films in the marquee. The tug of war was a big hit with the kids and the big kids!! Steve introduced the zoo game, great fun was had by all even if it did show how unfit we were!

The chocolate game was quickly put together using odd wellies, rubber gloves, sunglasses and hats. You throw the dice when you roll a 6 put on all clothing and using a knife and fork cut & eat a square of chocolate continuing until someone else throws a 6.

The quiz kindly organised by All and compared by Dan went down really well. With team names such as split sauce (linked to ready steady cook competition) and the A-Team, there was a healthy dose of competitive banter going on.

The biggest success of the weekend was the ready steady cook competition. Competitors were given 40 minutes to prepare a dish using £5 of ingredients. Andrew was the judge.

The clock was started! Jane was working very hard stirring her packet rice dinner and laying her table using a tea cloth as a tablecloth and a toilet roll as a vase with some plastic flowers neatly placed on her table setting to create the mood. Tony was slaving over a hot stove when he had a small but vital crisis. He ran out of gas! A quick change over and he was back in business, he even had time to lay a fantastic table for two. It reminded me of the lady & the tramp. Spaghetti bolognese for two.

Mark made sure nobody missed him setting light to his sauce for his turkey dish, whilst swigging his bottle of brandy. Steve was very quiet whilst creating his last minute entry of bacon & crouton salad served with a perfectly cooked poached egg on top, presented on a wooden chopping board with vw splitty salt & pepper set.

Darren seemed very focused on his well thought out dish of sausage, bacon, mushroom & tomato spaghetti main dish followed by bbq'd banana with crushed maltesers in the middle. Set off with a fanned serviette.

Andrews comments were that Marks turkey dish was fairly tasty but that the sauce had split! Steves salad was very nice and the poached egg was perfectly cooked. Darrens dishes even though basic ingredients were used the dish was full of flavour and had a nice kick to it, with the added bonus of a pudding. Janes rice was nice! (but from a packet)!! You can't get away with that one Jane. Tony's spaghetti was a good use of basic ingredients and facilities available in a campervan but his spaghetti was overcooked. Andrew found it very hard to decide on a winner it was between two people. He decided on Darren as the winner.

We have booked the rally field for next year again for 24th – 26th July 2009. So make sure you book it in your diaries it promises to be great fun!
